Screwfix has enhanced its range and introduced new and innovative roof windows from Keylite to help tradespeople get their job done right, first time. The unique windows feature several innovative features including an expanding thermal collar, flick-fit brackets, sash finger springs and are streamlined with a recessed fit.

The integrated thermal collar is unique to Keylite and comes pre-fitted to all window frames. Simply pull away the tape after installation and allow 24 hours for the collar to expand between the window frame and roof.

The clever, flick-fit brackets allow installers to fit the windows from inside, in just two-minutes, without removing the sash.

Luke Bugler, Building and Flooring Trading Manager said: “We are delighted to feature Keylite’s multi award-winning roof windows in our product range, available at Screwfix.com. This innovative range allows installers to fit the windows from inside in just two-minutes and offers our tradespeople even more high-quality products, to help them get their jobs done.

Matthew King, Sales Director at Keylite said: “Keylite are exceptionally proud to be working with Screwfix. Screwfix have been very supportive and their team have shown great enthusiasm in promoting our multi-award winning roof windows within their branches, online and in their catalogue. Keylite Roof Windows have been supplying the UK market for 20 years, and have built up a strong reputation as being the roof window of choice for the installers. Keylite are the UK product leaders in terms of features and benefits, and are the only roof window to have a built in expanding thermal collar to ensure the thermal integrity around the window and reduce the risk of condensation and mould forming on the window frame.

“We look forward to growing our market with the support of Screwfix, and becoming the roof window of choice for the entire UK market.”
